Bland & Associates' Jason Tonjes Becomes BKR International Board Member
BKR International, representing accounting firms from around the world, elects board of directors.

Omaha, NE – BKR International, a global association representing 135 accounting and business advisory firms in more than 300 locations world-wide, announces the election of Jason Tonjes, managing partner of Bland & Associates, P.C., to its seven-member board of directors.

BKR International member firms are selected for their local influence, expertise and international capability. Member firms not only adhere to their local regulatory accreditation, but also meet higher standards of ethical and professional excellence.

The BKR board of directors provides oversight and guidance to direct the strategic business plan of the organization. During his 3-year term on the BKR board, Tonjes will also oversee the Employee Benefits Plans and Construction committees.

“We are proud of Jason’s accomplishment,” says Jeremy Vokt, a shareholder with Bland & Associates, P.C., “this board position recognizes the wealth of knowledge and experience Jason has gained in his career and can bring to the BKR board and its committees. We congratulate him on his success.”

Mr. Tonjes joined Bland & Associates, P.C. in 1996 after graduating from Midland Lutheran College. While he works with many of the firm’s clients across all industries, he specializes in small business consulting, real estate, construction, managed healthcare and government. He is active not only in trade associations but in the Omaha community as well, with leadership roles in the Downtown Rotary Club of Omaha, the Nebraska Village of Promise, and volunteers with service programs and charitable organizations.
